Summer Care of Heating Plants

During the coming Summer, after you have allowed the fire in your Heating Apparatus to go out, the heating system should be put in condition to withstand the attacks of moisture and rust.

More deterioration will occur in one Summer if it is not done than would be the case by several years actual use.

We know just what to do to leave your heating plant so it will be in better shape in the fall than it is now, and the sooner it is done the better for you and the heater. Notify us at once.

We do all kinds of Plumbing, Steam, Hot Water and Furnace heating promptly, accurately and as reasonably as is consistent with good work.

BRIEF ITEMS OF INTEREST ABOUT TOWN

Harold Cates has entered the employ of Ames' store.

Mrs. William G. Brown is ill with bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. George F. Cheever has been seriously ill for the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Bradbury spent Sunday in town with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford H. Leach left town last Tuesday for the winter.

David Murphy of High street has left the employ of the Tyler Rubber Co.

Castle Winchester, K. O. K. A., held its first meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Susan E. Randall recently attended a class dinner at the Bellevue in Boston.

The public schools were closed today on account of the convention of Essex county teachers.

On account of the storm on Wednesday, there was no session of the public schools.

Mrs. Edward C. Cole and James N. Cole of Essex street spent Sunday with relatives in Lynn.

The Seaman's Friend society of the West church was entertained this week by Mrs. Richard Ward.

Mrs. R. LeBlanc Lynch has been visiting her sister who has been confined to the Newburyport hospital.

Remember the cantata, "Violet in Fairyland," at the Grange tonight. A good time is assured all who attend.

Commodore Wadhams and Mrs. Wadhams have been guests of their Andover friends during the past week.

Mrs. N. J. Bartlett and Mrs. Perkins of Bangor, Me., are visiting Mrs. Bartlett's daughter, Mrs. Walton, in Wakefield.

Many local people attended the Halloween party given by Prof. Labonte in Saunders hall, Lawrence, on Monday night.

Miss A. McKenzie has returned home after enjoying one month's vacation in Canada. She resumed her duties in Boston Wednesday.

Don't forget the fair to be held by Shawheen lodge, D. of H., in the A. O. U. W. hall on Wednesday, November 17th. Tickets 10 cents.

The number of books issued for home use at the Memorial Hall library during October was 2674.

Forty-seven new borrowers were registered during the month.

The Rebekahs entertained the Reading lodge Monday evening. After the degree work was finished a supper was served. The whole affair was a very enjoyable one.

Andover and Lawrence played an Association league game last Saturday afternoon on the Glen Essex grounds in Lawrence. The score, at the finish was, Andover 5, Lawrence 0.

The first of a series of talks on "Old Testament History" by Dr. O. H. Gates of the Theological Seminary was given in the Free church last Sunday after the morning service. The class was well attended.

Mrs. Mariana Furber McCann, who was in Andover last week, proved to be a very interesting story-teller and entertainer. Her audience in Pundard hall listened to her with great pleasure.

Remember the Grange fair, November 18 and 19. Many attractive tables and the well known Grange turkey supper both nights. An entertainment the first evening and music the second. Be sure to come.

Don't forget the Free church supper which will be served tonight, from 6.30 to 7.30. Not only is there the supper with all the good things pertaining to it, but after it will come a social and entertainment. Price of admission, 25c.; for children under twelve 15c.

The three upper classes of the Sunday school Primary Department of the Baptist church met at the vestry last Saturday afternoon, for their mite box opening. Though several children were absent, there was found to be a nice little sum of money to send to the little children who have no Sunday schools. Then came games and a peanut hunt, and refreshments were served from a table loaded with good things. The decorations, candles in pumpkins, Halloween napkins, fortunes in peanut shells, and peanut owls, all helped to tell that this was a Halloween party, which was evidently enjoyed by everyone.

Look! Now is the time to invest. You put in 50 cents and get entertainment, and care for yourself or friend when sick. The District nurse belongs to the town, and anyone who is sick can summon her. Next to our water and sewer systems this possession is the most valuable asset of the town, and it is up to the citizens of Andover to see that the District nurse is cheered by our sympathy, warmed, clothed and fed. Next Tuesday evening at the November Club house at 8 o'clock the cantata to be repeated which the summer choir girls gave at the Parish House a few weeks ago. Dancing afterwards? Of course. Do come. Tickets for sale at the Bookstore and at the door.

Mrs. Selah Merrill left town Monday for Oakland, California.

F. A. Remington and family from Brookline spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Allen, Chestnut St.

Henry McLawlin, a well known former resident of Andover, has returned from Marion, Mass., to Portland, Me.

Clan Macpherson association football team will play the last home league game tomorrow with the Brockton team.

An automobile accident occurred on South Main street Sunday afternoon, James Langall of Rocky Hill Road, a boy of 10 years, being struck by an auto while alighting from an electric car. Seeing the machine coming, and attempting to get out of its way, he ran directly in its path. No serious results occurred, only slight bruises being sustained.

Hallowe'en Party.

A very pleasant Hallowe'en party took place at the home of Mrs. Thomas Warr, Main street, Saturday night. The house was prettily illuminated for the occasion. What was the principal feature of the evening. The prizes were awarded as follows: First ladies' Mrs. Thomas Warr; first gents', Albion Comeau; second ladies' Mrs. Arthur Comeau; second gents' Frank Dentrement, and the consolation prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Dentrement and Mr. Daniel Wiley.

Phillips Academy Notes.

At the fall meeting of the Trustees of Phillips Academy, held in Boston last week, William B. Graves, who resigned from active duties last fall, was elected Professor Emeritus, and James C. Graham was appointed "Peabody Instructor in Natural Sciences."

Mr. Joseph N. Ashton, Director of music in the Academy, has arranged a series of weekly organ recitals on the new memorial organ in the chapel. These recitals will be given on Wednesday afternoon from five to five-thirty o'clock and will be open to the public as well as the school. Several well known organists who are graduates of the school have signified their willingness to assist. It is hoped that the public will take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy organ music of an exceptionally high quality. The first recital will be given next Wednesday afternoon.

Two substantial gifts to the school have recently been announced. A new scholarship of one thousand dollars has been founded by the wife and daughter in memory of James Huntington, a graduate of the school in the class of '48, and a man who worked his own way through the institution. From an anonymous giver ten thousand dollars have been received to be added to the permanent endowment funds.

Rev. Mr. Oliphant of Methuen was the preacher at the morning chapel services last Sunday, and Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of Boston at the vesper service. In the evening James Howard, P. A. '05, addressed the Society of Inquiry, the meeting being the most largely attended of the year. Mr. Howard was graduated from Yale last year and is this year graduate secretary of the Yale Young Men's Christian Association.

Under the auspices of the Society of Inquiry several of the students are teaching English to classes of foreigners in Lawrence. The work is carried on in co-operation with the Lawrence Y. M. C. A.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank all the friends and neighbors of Adam Wood who so kindly gave of time and flowers in our late bereavement.

THE FAMILY.

The November Club Twentieth Anniversary.

"The years will pass, yet none can say Their fragrance does not linger; Where'er Old Time has left a trail Or marked it with his finger."

Can it be a score of years since the formation of the November Club of Andover?

So saith the calendar; and on this twentieth anniversary over one hundred ladies enjoyed a bounteous "feast of reason and a flow of soul," after an excellent material luncheon that was amply sustained.

And in that score of years? We looked about and marked the many more youthful faces than those that bent over the Constitution and By-Laws of 1889. That little band has been decimated both by death and removal, and it was one of the charming touches given to the occasion by the graceful President, when she tenderly led our thoughts toward those who have left us.

We welcomed the "Honorary Members" who so kindly responded to our call, and there is great satisfaction in a review of the pleasant "After Dinner" speeches, for a note of progress was sounded in them all. The atmosphere was full of the intent to make the club a means of good toward our beloved town; to stay our hands at restricted gratifications—to learn daily how "To labor and to love" in a broader sense. There was, too, a marked advance in the bearing of all concerned—a gentle dignity, an ease of manner, an individuality that simply comes from growth—a consciousness of work well done; and above all, the keen realization that from such associations spring greater power in the home.

Abbot Academy.

Because of the rain Wednesday, the hockey game between Bradford Academy and Abbot has been postponed to next Wednesday. The finals in the tennis tournament will be played tomorrow.

Last week there were two fancy dress parties at Draper hall—a flower party on Tuesday evening, and a masquerade dance Saturday evening, to celebrate All Hallowe'en.

Tomorrow afternoon the Boston Abbot Academy Club will hold its first meeting of the fall at half-past two at the Hotel Vendome. Mrs. Charles Estabrook will sing, and Miss Anna Daves of Pittsfield will speak on "Some Presidents I have known."

Death.

In Wakefield, Monday, November 1, William S. Farmer, formerly of Andover.

The funeral of Adam Wood, who died Monday at his home, 22 Highland Road, was held Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Frederic Palmer conducted the services, and burial was in Spring Grove cemetery.

Mr. Wood, who has been in poor health for some time, was for some years engineer at Phillips Academy.

Birth.

In Holyoke, Thursday, October 7, 1909, a daughter, Constance Lenore, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halstead.

A. V. I. S. Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Andover Village Improvement Society will be held in the School Committee room, Town Hall, Monday evening, November 8, at 7.30 o'clock.

Notice

The Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society of the Chapel church will meet with Mrs. Stackpole next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. Subject, Spain. Will the ladies please bring their books?

WON'T SECEDE FROM CHURCH

Mrs. Stetson Submits to Boston Christian Science Officials

CALLED SELF "THE CHRIST"

Alleged Declaration at "Last Supper" In Her Home, When Glass of Lemonade Was Served Each Disciple In Lieu of Wine—Additional Charges Made by Investigators From the Mother Church

New York, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, in a letter given out by her late last night, announced her complete submission to the Boston officials of the Christian Science movement, and denied she intended to secede from the Christian Science church.

While Mrs. Stetson was preparing this statement her opponents in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, made public data they had gathered concerning her alleged teachings and practices.

MRS. AUGUSTA E. STETSON.

The letter in which Mrs. Stetson announces her submission to the authorities who have placed her and twenty-six of her practitioners under discipline is expected to have great effect at a meeting of the members of the First Church to be held Thursday to receive a report from the trustees, who have been investigating.

That Mrs. Stetson gathered twenty-six practitioners about a long, narrow table at her home in West Ninety-Sixth street, adjoining the First Church of Christ, Scientist, and with them gave a representation of the "last supper," during which she declared, "I am Augusta Stetson, the Christ," is one of many charges, that was to have been brought forward against her at a meeting of the members of the First Church Thursday.

Witnesses in the investigation of Mrs. Stetson's teachings made by the directors of the mother church of Christian Science in Boston have testified that at the alleged ceremony she broke bread, gave it to each practitioner with a bit of fish and a glass of lemonade in lieu of wine and told all of them that they were the same mental condition as the disciples of Christ when they sat down to the "last supper."

Revelations made yesterday concerning the nature of evidence that has been obtained in the controversy between Mrs. Stetson and the Boston officials contained a full description of the "last supper" episode, said to have been called by Mrs. Stetson a "paschal feast." These disclosures include other facts which have hitherto been kept secret.

Fearing that Mrs. Stetson at the meeting Thursday might endeavor to lead her followers away from the influence of the Boston officials, their representatives were prepared to introduce testimony against her offered in Boston during the inquiry which resulted in the infliction of discipline on her and twenty-six of her practitioners.

The subject of "mental journeys" is another phase of the situation in the First Church concerning which the opponents of Mrs. Stetson hope to be able to offer testimony at the meeting.

Among the additional charges is one to the effect that Mrs. Stetson ordered her practitioners to set their alarm clocks for midnight each night, to arise at that hour and from the time they arose until 1 o'clock in the morning concentrate their minds on mental treatment led by her.

That Mrs. Stetson had declared "Mrs. Eddy as God manifest and Mrs. Stetson Christ manifest" is another allegation brought by those who accuse Mrs. Stetson of having strayed from the true principles of Christian Science.

Charged With Padding Pay Rolls Somerville, Mass., Nov. 2.—William W. Smith, Jr., a foreman in the street department of Somerville, was arrested last night at his home on a charge of larceny of $48 from the city by means of padding the pay rolls. The complaint against him was made at the request of Mayor Woods.

GOMPERS LOSES HIS FIGHT

Mitchell and Morrison Are Also Facing Terms of Imprisonment

Washington, Nov. 3.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; John Mitchell, vice president, and Frank Morrison, secretary, must serve the terms of imprisonment passed upon them by Justice Wright of the District of Columbia supreme court for contempt in the Buck Stove company injunction case, according to the decision of the district court of appeals.

The confirmation of the sentences imposed on the three labor men will be followed by an appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

The chief justice of the court of appeals dissented from the decision of his colleagues.

Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison were sentenced by Justice Wright on Dec. 23, 1908, to serve terms of twelve, nine and six months, respectively, in the district jail for contempt of court in violation of an injunction in the Buck Stove and Range case. James W. Van Cleave is president of the company.

ROBBED FATHER'S BANK

Desire to Secure a Husband Prompted Girl to Steal Nearly $30,000

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Miss Angeline Schiavone, the 17-year-old daughter of Pasquale Schiavone, a banker, appeared in court ready to tell on the witness stand a remarkable story she told the police in a confession that she had stolen nearly $30,000 from her father's bank to give to an uncle and seven other relatives.

She said in the confession she gave them the money because they promised to get her a husband. The case was set for the latter part of the week.

STEAD HAS A CHAT WITH GLADSTONE

"Spirit" of Former Premier Again in Political Arena

London, Nov. 1.—The Chronicle gives a long report of a purported conversation held with the spirit of William Gladstone by William Stead, through the medium of the spirit of a dead American newspaper woman, whom Stead calls Julia.

Gladstone's spirit is represented as having answered numerous questions, saying, among other things, that he agrees with the principles of the budget and that he thinks the house of lords will act most wisely if it rejects it. He advises the government not to dissolve immediately if the house of lords passes the bill, but to await a more favorable opportunity.

The spirit of Gladstone is further made to say that it is distasteful, although not harmful, to him to be thus brought back to the old political arena. It adds: "I desire to detach myself from this set of disturbances and to go my way in the manner I desire."

"WETS" CARRY THE DAY

Rockefeller's Efforts of No Avail in West Chester County Fight

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Although followers of local option made a hard battle to make fourteen towns in West Chester county dry, scattering circulars and daily almanacs denouncing the liquor traffic, yet returns show that only one town in the county went "dry." This was Yorktown, which went "dry" by twenty-three majority.

Mount Pleasant, where John D. Rockefeller has a country estate, and who desired that his township should be placed in the dry list, went in favor of the wets by about 400 majority. Rockefeller has always been opposed to saloons in the neighborhood of his country mansion at Pocantico Hills, and it is said that he urged his employees to vote for no license.

Willus Britt Dead

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—Willus Britt, manager of Stanley Ketchel and Battling Nelson died suddenly of hemorrhage of the lungs. Britt was 32 years old. He was a clever boxer when younger, but lately he turned his attention to promoting prize fights.

Explosion Closes Woolen Mills Dracut, Nov. 2.—The bursting of a steam pipe at the Merrimack Woolen mills caused the death of Peter Pelletier, an operative. The accident caused the shutting down of the plant, which employs 300 hands.

Suffragists Win Victory

New York, Nov. 4.—Mayor McClellan has appointed three women to the board of education, and thereby conceded one of the principal demands of woman suffrage organizations.

ted row system gives larger yields. In this the plants are set from ten to twelve inches apart in rows four feet apart. The runners are trimmed to make a matted row about two feet wide. The spaces between the rows should be kept well cultivated during the early part of the season and the weeds pulled in the rows. After the second year the runners can be allowed to fill these open spaces and the original rows plowed up. In this way the bed can be easily renewed and kept bearing for several years, usually until the land becomes so weedy that it must be plowed up and put in to some other crop.

In cold climates the strawberries must be given some sort of winter protection. The object of this is not so much to prevent freezing as to keep the ground from that alternate freezing and thawing which cause heaving of the plants. A mulch of coarse horse manure applied after the ground freezes is excellent for this purpose, as it adds fertility at the same time. In the spring the straw can be raked up and removed. One necessary precaution is to be sure that the manure is free from weed seeds. I have seen strawberry beds ruined because the mulch contained timothy hay in which the seeds were ripe enough to grow.

Raspberries and Blackberries. Next to strawberries in importance are raspberries and blackberries. The best soil for blackberries is about like that for strawberries, while for raspberries it may be a little heavier. The two kinds of raspberries most extensively grown in this country are red and black. The red raspberry is propagated by shoots which grow up from the roots. One-year-old shoots are preferable for planting. The rows should be at least four feet apart, with the plants two feet apart in the row. Frequent and thorough cultivation is necessary to keep down the suckers which grow up from the roots. It is a good plan to plow the ground between the rows every spring.

Black raspberries do not send up root shoots. They are propagated by burying the tips of the shoots in the ground some time in August. These take root and produce new plants, which can be transplanted the following spring. The black raspberries are more rank in their habits of growth and should be planted farther apart than the red varieties. Planting every three feet in rows seven to eight feet apart is a good distance. They should receive thorough cultivation in the same manner as the red sorts.

The application of a coat of manure between the rows in the fall will materially increase the yield of all small fruits. Pruning is also important. Blackberry and raspberry shoots bear but once, so in the spring all those which produced fruit the season before should be cut out. Black raspberry shoots should have the tip nipped off when they are about eighteen inches high. This causes lateral branches to form and greatly increases the yield. The same treatment should be given to blackberries. After about four good crops of raspberries have been secured the patch should be plowed up and a new one started somewhere else.

Blackberries are usually propagated by suckers. The distance apart is about four feet in the row with rows seven feet apart. The proper depth to set the plants is about four inches. It is a common practice to plant a row of potatoes or some other vegetable between the blackberry rows the first season. This can also be done with black raspberries. About four or five blackberry shoots are all that should be allowed to grow up the first season. After that the number may be gradually increased. A well established blackberry patch will last six or seven years. The yields that may be secured depend largely upon the frequency of rainfall during the ripening season. A little dry weather at this time will result in shriveled, worthless berries.

In sections where the winter is severe the best results cannot be obtained from raspberries and blackberries unless some sort of protection is given. The simplest method of doing this is by bending the canes down along the row and covering them with dirt.

Currants and Gooseberries.

A clayey loam soil, with plenty of moisture, is best for currants and gooseberries. They do all the better for a little shade and are not so particular about cultivation as the other small fruits. A heavy mulch of straw or coarse manure may be used to keep down the weeds and conserve moisture and cultivation dispensed with entirely.

A few bushes set along a fence row will furnish enough of this kind of fruit for the family. They are propagated by cuttings, pieces of branches which are planted in moist earth, where they take root. Two-year-old plants are best for planting. Being harder than the other small fruits, currants and gooseberries will stand fall planting. Indeed, this is almost a necessity, since they start growing almost as soon as the ground thaws in the spring. All weak and old branches should be cut out early each spring. Currants and gooseberries will continue to yield profitable crops on the same ground for a long time.

Making Money On the Farm

XVII.—Small Fruit Culture

By C. V. GREGORY,
Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture"
Copyright, 1909 by American Press Association

SMALL fruit can be grown almost as easily as corn or oats if it is gone at in the right way. A liberal quantity grown at home is a luxury that is within the reach of every farmer. Grown on a larger scale, the small fruits are among the most profitable crops that the farm will produce.

FIG. XXXIII—IN THE BLACKBERRY PATCH.

drained, in order that it may warm up quickly in the spring instead of remaining soggy for several weeks and then baking hard, as undrained soils are so liable to do.

Deep plowing, with thorough disk ing and harrowing, is necessary in order to get the land into the best condition. Strawberries should follow some cultivated crop which has been kept free from weeds. It will then be easier to prepare the seed bed, and the patch will be freer from weeds and insects. Strawberries are particular in their soil requirements, and a little care in preparation will add greatly to the size of the crop. Too little attention is given to this most important requisite. Many persons do not seem to be aware that the strawberry is at all particular about the soil in which it is put. As a consequence they prepare their beds without any reference to this essential factor in the success of their enterprise and, of course, are doomed to disappointment in the outcome.

Varieties of Strawberries.

Varieties of strawberries are divided into two general types—the perfect and the imperfect flowered. The imperfect contain only the female organs or pistils, while the perfect sorts contain both stamens and pistils. The imperfect varieties can produce no fruit unless fertilized with the pollen from the flower of a perfect variety. It is very important that attention be paid to this point in planting. Many of the imperfect sorts possess points of superiority over the perfect varieties. They can be successfully grown by planting every fifth row to a perfect flowered variety. This row will furnish pollen for the two rows on either side of it. In setting out a bed in this way care must be taken to see that the two varieties come into bloom at the same time.

Perfect and imperfect varieties cannot be told apart except when in bloom. Then the absence of the row of pistils around the petals marks the imperfect sorts. Lists of varieties of strawberries always specify whether they are perfect or imperfect. A reliable nurseryman can be depended upon to give you what you ask for. A list of the varieties best adapted to your locality can be obtained from your experiment station.

The strawberry is propagated almost entirely by runners. At each joint in the runner a new plant appears and takes root. Only plants less than a year old should be selected for planting. The crown should not be too large and the roots thick and long. The presence of large woody roots and a heavy crown indicates that the plant is an old one. If there are many leaves it is well to pinch off one or two of the largest to correspond to the injury to the root system.

Planting Strawberries.

Spring planting is the most reliable, but where the fall is moist or the patch can be readily watered fall planting gives very good results. The two important points in planting are spreading the roots and packing the dirt tightly about them. The plants should be set so the crowns are just level with the surface of the ground.

Hills Versus Matted Rows. Strawberries are grown both in hills and in rows. In the hill system the plants are set about three feet apart. The runners are cut off in order to make a compact, vigorous hill. The size and quality of the berries are better under the hill system, but the mat-

Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprised me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years."

Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine. Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

Association Football

The Andover Thistles had the Beverly F. C. for their visitors last Saturday. The Thistles, though a very much lighter team, pulled off an easy victory, defeating Beverly by 8 goals to 1. The Beverly boys played a hard game but they lacked team work. They held Andover down pretty well during the first half, but fell away in the second half. Andover played well in every position, Cairnie and Skeal being the best individual players. The following was the line-up.

BEVERLY: Taylor, g. Hume; Gegan, hb. hb. C. Nicoll; Alcock, hb. hb. Deyermund; Fielding, b. b. J. Gorrie; Altenheimer, b. b. G. Nicoll; Nash, b. b. Valentine; Donovan, f. f. Lowe; H. Brindle, f. f. Stewart; J. Warlarton, f. f. Carine; Liver, f. f. H. Nicoll; J. Brindle, f. f. C. Skeal.

The Thistles will go to Beverly tomorrow to play the return game. They will be represented by the same team. The car leaves the square at 12:40 p.m.

GREAT SLUMP IN BAY STATE

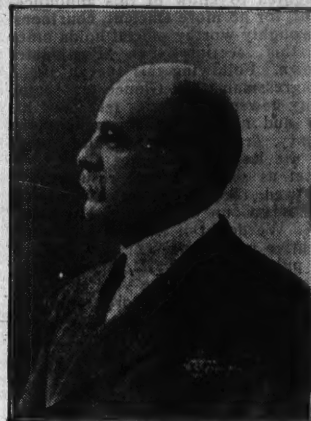

Draper and Frothingham Win by Very Narrow Margin

TAMMANY IS BADLY BEATEN

Elects Only Gaynor, Who Will Merely Be Figurehead, and Loses Control of City Finances and Patronage—Reformers Get Black Eyes in San Francisco and Philadelphia—Pothier Again Elected in Rhode Island

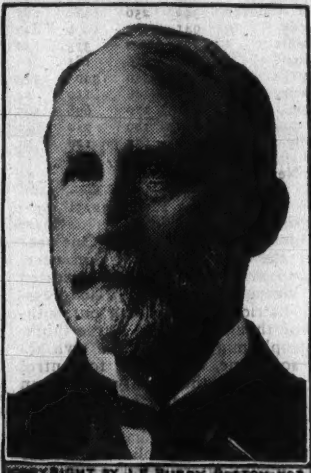

Eben S. Draper of Hopedale was re-elected governor of Massachusetts over James H. Vahey by the narrow margin of 8092 votes. Louis A. Frothingham of Boston was re-elected lieutenant governor over Eugene N. Foss by a plurality of 6710. This was a tremendous Republican slump. Draper's plurality over Vahey last year was over 60,000.

The other Republican nominees for state offices were re-elected by substantial pluralities. The executive council will stand seven Republicans and one Democrat, the same as now.

Tammany lost all that it holds dear in the election—control of New York party will have twelve additional seats in the house. The Republicans lose one in the senate. The legislature of 1910 will stand as follows: Senate, Republicans, 33; Democrats, 7; house, Republicans, 169; Democrats, 70.

Tammany lost all that it holds dear in the election, control of New York city finances and patronage. Gaynor, its one crumb of comfort, can be nothing more than a figurehead, with the board of estimate, the borough presidents, the president of the board of aldermen and the city judgeship in the hands of the Fusionists. This is the most sweeping defeat of Tammany in recent times.

JUDGE WILLIAM J. GAYNOR
In other cities the reformers were not so successful. D. C. Gibboney's fight against the McNichol machine in Philadelphia ended in a crushing defeat. The Republicans re-elected District Attorney Rotan over Gibboney by a majority of more than 30,000. "Dave" Martin of the "Hog Combine" seems to be elected register of wills. There is no crumb of comfort for the reformers in Philadelphia.

The blackest eye that municipal reform has received in a good many years is that administered in San Francisco, where Francis J. Heney is badly beaten for district attorney. There was a three-cornered fight for the mayoralty there, in which all the elements in the Republican party that are opposed to the anti-graft agitation started by Heney united to secure the nomination and election of William Crocker. Crocker is defeated by the labor candidate, P. M. McCarthy.

Despite President Taft's attitude of hostility toward the Cox machine in Cincinnati that organization won out. In Cleveland Mayor Tom L. Johnson has at last met his Waterloo. He was first elected in 1901, and has come up for re-election in every campaign since then. Johnson, opposed by Herman C. Baehr, has been defeated.

In Louisville there was a bitter campaign, the counterpart of that in New York, and W. O. Head, the Democratic candidate, was elected over Mayor Grinstead, the Republican candidate. The American, or anti-Mormon, candidate in Salt Lake City, Mayor Fransford, has been re-elected. This, however, is largely due to the failure of the opposition to pull through a successful fusion.

About the only gleam of hope for municipal reformers is to be found in the Indianapolis election, where Gauss, the Democratic candidate, was defeated by Lewis Shank. The brewers and liquor interests generally are said to have spent money like water to elect Gauss, and Thomas Taggart worked for him.

ARAM J. POTHIER

There were only three elections for governor—in Rhode Island, Virginia and Massachusetts. The Republicans carried Rhode Island and the Democrats, as usual, won in Virginia. Governor Aram J. Pothier is re-elected in Rhode Island over Olney Arnold by a plurality of at least 11,834. Judge Mann is elected governor of Virginia to succeed Claude A. Swanson, after a campaign of unusual bitterness.

Minor state offices were filled in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Nebraska. Bryan's plurality of last year is eliminated. The centre of interest in Maryland, however, was the constitutional amendment disfranchising the bulk of the negro population. This amendment has been beaten, as a similar amendment was four years ago.

BRIDE OF SEVENTY UPHELD BY COURT

Does Not Fear Boyish Husband Will Dissipate Fortune

Hartford, Nov. 4.—That Mrs. Lucinda T. Goddard, the 70-year-old bride of C. R. Goddard of the Yale law school, aged 21, had shown no incapacity for handling her affairs, was the opinion expressed by Judge Marvin at the conclusion of the hearing in the probate court.

Mrs. Goddard's son wanted a conservator over his mother because he feared that his boyish stepfather might dissipate his mother's fortune.

GOLD MEDAL FOR PEARY

Proof of His Having Reached Pole Found by Geographic Society

Washington, Nov. 4.—Commander Peary was voted a gold medal by the National Geographic society for having reached the North Pole. The society passed upon the explorer's records and proofs and found them to be conclusive of his claim that he had reached the Pole.

The society adopted a resolution that the question of whether or not any explorer reached the North Pole prior to 1909 shall be referred to a sub-committee of experts with authority to send for papers or make such journeys as may be necessary to inspect original records. This indicates that the society proposes as soon as possible to pass upon the records of Dr. Cook.

In addition to awarding Peary a special gold medal, as a token of the highest honor the society can bestow upon him, it was also decided that a medal be given to Captain Bartlett.

CAPTAIN WRECKED SHIP

Conclusion of Board by Inquiry Which Probed Cairncrag Disaster

Halifax, Nov. 4.—The wreck of the steamer Cairncrag, near Canso, on July 26, was due to a lack of proper navigation and seamanship care by her master, Captain James Hyslop, according to the judgment of a board of inquiry at Newcastle-on-Tyne, Eng., information of which has just reached here.

The court did not impair the face value of Hyslop's certificate, but severely reprimanded him and ordered him to pay the sum of $25 toward the cost of the investigation.

New Haven Clerks Vote to Strike

Boston, Nov. 3.—Three thousand clerks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad voted to strike. The strike order, it is said, will go into effect Monday. President Mellen and his associates are eager to avert a strike, but declare they will not accede to the demands of the union. The clerks say the strike order will not be revoked unless all requests are granted.

TAFT CAPTURES SOUTHERNERS

"Secessionists, Ku Klux and the Cranky Democrats"

LOVE FOR THE PRESIDENT

He Declares That He Appreciates It, but Wants to Know Why He Was "Kicked Down Stairs"—Praises Birmingham as Leading New South in Business and Industrial Enterprises—Unites the Blue and Gray

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 4.—A man interrupted President Taft's speech at Capitol park yesterday afternoon. The president was speaking on the relations between the north and the south. "We all love you," the man shouted.

The president paused for a moment, chuckled quietly and said: "Well, you remember that old quotation: 'Perhaps it was right to dissemble your love, but why did you kick me down stairs?' It was five minutes before the 5000 or 6000 people allowed the president to make himself heard.

"I am quite aware," he went on, "that in addressing an Alabama audience I am talking to one that, while perhaps it loves me, it feels that interest of country requires the selection of some other candidate. I am not objecting to that in the slightest. I feel proud that while you entertain that opinion on that particular question, you give me such a cordial and heartfelt reception."

The subject that the president selected for his Birmingham address was Birmingham herself. The president ventured the opinion that the future would see Birmingham linked by water to the gulf and praised her as leading the new south in business and industrial enterprises. The president said he knew of no better function that a president can perform now than constantly keep before the people the necessity of providing those laws that are to prevent abuses of corporate power and monopoly.

The president referred to the proposition to amend the state constitution by providing for an indefinite continuance of state-wide prohibition. He promptly was asked how he stood on the question.

"I am not an Alabamian," he replied, amid laughter, "and I am in somewhat the position of Brother Fox, who, when he was called upon to decide a case between a lion and some other ferocious beast, protested that he had a bad cold and had entirely lost his sense of smell."

When the president left a luncheon, the way from the clubhouse door to the waiting automobile was lined on one side by veterans of the Confederate army and on the other side by veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. As he passed down this avenue, Mr. Taft shook hands alternately with each one.

As he shook hands with one of the Confederates, the old fellow said:

"Mr. President, you have captured the secessionists, the Ku Klux and the cranky Democrats, all of them."

"Well, that's a whole lot," smilingly replied the president.

A FOOTBALL TRAGEDY

Cadet Byrne Succumbs to Injuries Received in Game With Harvard

West Point, Nov. 1.—Cadet Eugene C. Byrne, the big left tackle, who was injured in the Harvard game Saturday, died Sunday. From the time he was taken from the field until his death doctors kept him alive by artificial respiration. The injury has been diagnosed as a fracture of the second or third vertebrae, and the respiratory nerves were completely paralyzed.

Late last night it was decided to abandon the rest of the football schedule for the season.

FOR MINISTER TO CHINA

Suggestion of Fairbanks' Name Meets With Approval in Washington

Washington, Nov. 4.—Former Vice President Fairbanks, who is now in Burma with Mrs. Fairbanks on a trip around the world, has been suggested to Secretary Knox for minister to China by Senator Cullom, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate.

There is nothing but approval of the suggestion wherever it has been heard.

Uncle Joe as Baseball Magnate

Wheeling, Nov. 4.—Speaker Cannon of the house of representatives is making an effort to buy the franchise of the South Bend Baseball club of the Central league and then transfer the club to Danville, Cannon's home town. There are several other citizens of Danville in readiness to buy stock in the club, but Cannon will control over half.

"Saved From Meat Trust"

London, Nov. 4.—The arrival in the Thames of a cargo of chilled beef from Australia, said to be in tip-top condition, is heralded here as foreshadowing the relief of the British meat market "from the danger of being throttled by the American Beef Trust."

NEW ENGLAND HEROES

Ten Among the Fifty Honored by the Carnegie Commission

Pittsburg, Nov. 4.—The Carnegie hero commission made the largest number of awards in cash and medals yesterday on record. They include fifty heroes and heroines, and $34,650 in cash will be distributed, besides a number of those dependent on deceased heroes, who will be pensioned for life.

The New England states, as usual, came in for a large share, ten awards being made for heroism in that section. Of the persons named in New England, four met death, and the next of kin will receive the reward.

The New England heroes were: William F. Loyle, North Attleboro, Mass.; John G. Conroy, Boston; Thomas J. Madden, Waterbury, Conn.; Albert K. Sweet, Norwood, R. I.; L. F. Clarke, Wilton, Me.; Fred L. Foss (died), Fall River, Mass.; George A. Lawrey, Pawtucket, R. I.; H. L. Mitchell (died), Plymouth, Conn.; Charles W. Hammond (died), Augusta, Me.; Michael Donlin (died), Meriden, Conn.

SUPREME COURT VACANCY

Washington Gossip Has It That Wick-ersham Will Have a Seat

Washington, Nov. 4.—It is the understanding in Washington among men in a position to know that George Wickersham of New York, attorney general of the United States, will be appointed associate justice of the supreme court to succeed the late Rufus Peckham, if he desires the office.

Judge Lurton of Tennessee, who had been recommended for appointment to the supreme court by President Taft at the time of the retirement of Justice Brown of Michigan in 1906, and who was regarded as Taft's probable choice, at this time appears to be eliminated on account of age.

RAISED $514,377 IN FIFTEEN DAYS

Boston Y. M. C. A. Has Amp e Funds For New Building

Boston, Nov. 2.—The hour of 7 last evening saw the movable money hand of the big Y. M. C. A. clock creep slowly upward on the great dial that fronts the common, pointing out the accumulated thousands, and pause for just an instant at the goal that meant the new structure for Boston—$500,000.

Thousands cheered as the hand pointed straight upward. Then the cheers were redoubled in volume as the upright pointer slowly started forth again down the face of the clock on the other side until it stopped close by the $15,000 mark.

It told the people gathered in the streets that the young men of Boston were to have a structure dedicated to their well-being and advancement, and that the campaign which had interested business men, congregations in churches, citizens in general and the public at large had been successfully terminated. The final statistics showed that the grand total had reached $514,377.

The vast sum for the new structure was raised in exactly fifteen days. It started on the evening of Oct. 14, when prominent citizens of Boston met and pledged themselves to the extent of $60,000.

The next day the dial of the great clock showed what kind of start had been made and from day to day since that time the money hand moved on and on about the dial setting forth the sums accumulated.

"HUNTING" FOR TYPALDOS

But Greek Government is Not Particularly Anxious to Find Him

Athens, Nov. 2.—Everything here is outwardly quiet. There is little indication of what the final settlement of the political trouble will be. The government is making a diligent show of hunting for Lieutenant TYPALDOS, leader of the naval revolt, but many persons believe that he is actually in Athens and that the government is fully aware of his hiding place.

TYPALDOS and some other mutineers belong to exalted and influential families, and there are many reasons why it is undesirable to arrest him just now.

Whooping Cough Kills Old Banker

New York, Nov. 1.—John S. Kennedy died suddenly, aged 80. He had been sick about two weeks with whooping cough. His heart was not strong and violent fits of coughing told on him. Kennedy had for many years been widely known not only in the banking and business community, but in the community of churches, scientific societies, charitable organizations, social clubs and sportsmen's clubs.

THE TOWN BY A COUNTRYMAN AT HOME

The Local Election

Judging from past experiences, the writer should have been sufficiently warned so that he would refrain from making any comment upon the result of the election in Andover last Tuesday. But for more than twenty years, he has been writing comment for this column, much of it to be approved by the public at large, and some of it to be severely criticized. With the kindest feelings toward the defeated, and the heartiest congratulations to the successful, a few words seems to be due at the present time.

It has been a long while since Andover has seen so strenuous a contest as that which closed last Tuesday night with the election of Mr. Boutwell for Representative in the General Court. Strenuous, not only in the hustling and campaigning done by the candidates, but strenuous in the amount of comment and misrepresentation that was current. A dozen different reasons have been given since the election for the small plurality given to Mr. Boutwell. The Townsman does not intend to give any attention to any of these reasons at this time. That there may have been something in all of them that contributed to the result is undoubtedly true; that underlying some of the reasons was an entirely false foundation, we cannot refrain from asserting now that the result is known.

Two men have been the principals against whom most of the abuse, misrepresentation, and slander have been thrown during the past campaign. One of those men is one of the great business-men of the world. He is abundantly able to take care of himself, and there is little doubt but that his friends will show how they feel regarding the abuse that has been given to him in due season. We believe we voice the feelings of a very large majority of the citizens of Andover when we express disgust, and the strongest disapprobation, with what has been said during the past campaign about an Andover citizen who has done more for the community since his residence here, than can be credited to a lifetime of work performed by any other citizen of Andover within the last century.

So far as the writer himself is concerned, he has become hardened to the kind of abuse and the source from which it comes, such as that levelled at him during the past four weeks. Some day the public will realize how untrue it all is, how unfair the criticism has all been, and what effect it has all had upon the community which has been a party to it. As a resident of Andover for forty years, there has grown in the life of the writer a love for the town that cannot be destroyed or dwarfed by any such cheap innuendo and misrepresentation as has culminated during the past campaign. Child, boy, and man, in all steps of life thus far, there has always been a continued and constant affection for Andover and all that Andover stands for. The town has given to him its biggest honors. There are no more honors it can give. There has never been one selfish thought from the time when the first steps were taken by the Townsman and the writer of this column in practically every progressive movement that Andover has seen during the past twenty years. The future loyalty to everything that will make the town richer and better will be the best proof of this assertion.

The past is secure. Abuse, slander, misrepresentation, and cheap demagogic flings will not change one iota the future course that is clearly laid for the Townsman and its editor. It is a course that ever will help along this same line, and a hundred little cheap men may rail and rant as they please without any effect upon a purpose as firmly fixed as this is.

Editorial Cinders

All up for the Exeter game tomorrow and may the best team win. Also may the best team be Andover.

It is good to see the Andover boys "move up." Walter M. Lamont is the latest young man to make good in the big Wood Worsted Mills, as evidenced by his appointment this week to be agent of that great plant.

Up in Methuen there was cast one vote for S. H. Boutwell for representative. It must have been written in by a river neighbor of Mr. Boutwell.

Recount of Representative Vote

Candidate Burns has petitioned for a recount of the vote for representative and it will be made Saturday afternoon by the board of registrars.

The Tuesday Club "At Home."

The Tuesday Club gave its annual "At home" November second at the residence of Mrs. John N. Cole, 8 Locke street. From three to five the club members received their many friends and extended to them the hospitality of the club.

Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room which presented a charming picture with its decoration of autumn leaves and brown and yellow chrysanthemums.

The special train for the Exeter game will leave Andover at 12:35 o'clock, and will return directly after the game, no stops being made on the way.

THE STATE BY A COUNTRYMAN ABROAD

The Evolution in Essex County

In a speech at Gloucester before the close of the campaign, Congressman Augustus Peabody Gardner took pains to assail several newspapers in the County, and to defy those newspapers and the thousands of people they represent by his assertions. In the list was the Townsman, and the free advertising that the Townsman secured is appreciated and welcomed. The Congressman never needs the admonition that was given to John Alden to "speak for himself," and hence it was no surprise to those who had gathered to hark for some reasons why the Governor should be reelected, to have the personal affairs of the Honorable Augustus Gardner thrust upon their attention. After abusing the newspapers, he announced that he would name Postmaster Brown of Gloucester for another term, when his present term expired. We don't believe there are many people who have business with the Gloucester Post Office who won't be delighted to know of this announcement, for no more efficient, courteous, thoroughly worthy official holds office in this section than Postmaster Brown. Following this speech of the Congressman at Gloucester came many newspaper stories telling of his day and night rides throughout the county, driving into line the voters for the Republican ticket.

Let us see just what results have followed the increasing domination of Essex County affairs by Mr. Gardner. We doubt if there is any more effective way to present this than by the publishing of a table showing the vote last year and the vote this year for an official who more than any other on the State ticket represents Mr. Gardner's electioneering characteristics. The following table, therefore, has been prepared, showing the vote of Essex County in 1908 and 1909 for the Republican and Democratic candidates for Lieutenant Governor for these two years.

Republican plurality 2600 16228
A most interesting story. One year under the aggression of this domineering and arrogant "boss," intoxicated with his power in his own Congressional district, and reaching out without one thought of what a free thinking people might do of their own accord sometime, attempting to control every office in the county, and even touching some of the social organizations in the county, has resulted in doing what? He has succeeded in driving the Republican vote of 1908 amounting to 32,751 down to 24,753. He has succeeded in taking the Democratic vote of 1908, 16,523 and increasing it to the largest vote cast here within the memory of man, 22,153. He has succeeded in making Essex County the banner county in the Commonwealth for its shift from loyalty to the Republican party, to a rebuking force of a partisan boss, all represented in a reduction in Essex County of the Republican plurality in one year from 16,228 to 2,600.

Congratulations to Mr. Gardner upon his efficient work; but woe betide the party, to which the writer is just as loyal as Mr. Gardner, if it is to continue to stand for such arrogance and impudence as have in recent years marked the control of it by this Congressman from the sixth District! Why should he include in his abuse the Andover Townsman and the Lawrence Eagle? They are not in the Congressional District. We know why; because he wishes to control this section of the state just as he has controlled his own section for so long, because he would dominate newspapers in this end of the way he attempts to in his own end of the County. Because in brief, his purpose is to be the Czar of eastern Massachusetts, and in that role ultimately hold the place now occupied by his distinguished, honorable and worthy father-in-law.

Let us say to Mr. Gardner that he can't do it. Let us say to Mr. Gardner that the rebuke emphasized in the above table is only the beginning of what the voters of this county will do unless he stops doing. Let us say to him that it will be vastly better that Essex County should cast a 10,000 Democratic majority than that it should longer yield itself to such tactics in politics, such intemperance in language, such outrage in conduct as have marked the last few years of his attempted domination.

Suggested by Election Results

At the outset let the writer state that he is a candidate for no office at the present time. With this in mind, we believe that a long acquaintance with political conditions in Massachusetts justifies the following suggestions. It is all very well to comment upon the reasons why Governor Draper is elected by such a greatly reduced plurality. We have no comment to make upon this reduction other than to say that a splendid administration by Governor Draper deserves a better fate. We have not agreed with all of his acts, but taken as a whole, he has been an efficient public servant.

Our concern at the present time is not with the Governor, or his past or future term of office. It is with the plan devised by other men than he, promoted by many men, contemplating his ultimate successor. The personal representative on the State ticket last Tuesday of the machine in Massachusetts, of the powers that would control politics in Massachusetts was the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. There is absolutely no other reason why the 96000 plurality of Mr. Frothingham should be reduced to 6000 than because of his relation to the dominating forces in Massachusetts politics. Notice has been served upon those men that there has got to be some reasons other than that a man is their choice why he should be elected Governor of Massachusetts.

It was all very well for them to pick Eben Draper for this position. He had made good in the business world, he stood for forceful, effective citizenship, and men took him not only because he was their choice, but because he was eminently fitted for his position. It isn't going to be so easy to give reasons why Mr. Frothingham should receive this promotion. The public is beginning to enquire if there isn't some positive, red blooded quality that can be referred to in the Lieutenant Governor besides the fact that once upon a time he made a base hit in a ball game. For several years, this has been the introduction to most of his audiences in Massachusetts, and it isn't surprising that the average hard headed old Republican queries as to just where this quality makes gubernatorial timber.

There are in Massachusetts a half dozen vigorous able men who have proved their worth either in high official station or in the business world, and it is time that all of them were given consideration in connection with the successor to Governor Draper. The writer has a close personal acquaintance with the present Lieutenant Governor. He is a delightful young man personally, and stands high socially. But there is not a single positive factor in his entire public life that places him in any pre-eminent position in the fight that ought to come for the highest honor in the gift of the Commonwealth. The time is now ripe, when the Republican party is taking account of stock, for it to choose for itself among all its men, that pre-eminent member of its party to succeed Governor Draper. If it doesn't do this, the warning of last Tuesday will be but a faint rumble compared to the earthquake that will follow arrogant leadership and blind obedience such as we have had during the past twenty years.

The Farmers' Ball.

The second annual dance, or Farmers' Ball, held under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus in the Town Hall last Friday evening, was as successful in every way as could be hoped for.

In the uniquely decorated hall, many were the farmers, together with their wives and sweethearts, who, attired in all kinds of costumes, took part in the wallaces, cowdills, vinegar reels, and short hitches of which the program was made up.

The prizes were awarded as follows: First prize for ladies, squash, Miss Nora Hodnett; second prize, hen, Miss Belle Bowman; third prize, cauliflower, Miss Mamie Daley; gentlemen's first prize, hog, William Haggerty; second prize, rooster, William Daley; third prize, head of cabbage, Patrick Colbert.

The farmers in charge were as follows: Hock Green; foreman, Hyrum Crowley; boss milker, Hen O'Connor; boss hatmaker, Obediah Dudley; boss reaper, Ezra Colbert; poultry keeper, Cyrus Hannon; boss teamster, Seth Daly.

The First Cross Lecture.

Last Tuesday evening a large audience listened to the first lecture given by Prof. George N. Cross, A. M., in Stone chapel. The subject was "Historic Castles in England." The lecture, which is perhaps the best known of all his talks, was interesting from start to finish. The slides showing views of London Tower, Warwick and Windsor Castles were very beautiful, and Prof. Cross' explanations of them were entertaining in the extreme. The next lecture, which will be on "Washington," will be given a week from next Tuesday and deserves a good attendance.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

An Inviting Course of Entertainments Planned for Andover

There is in preparation a course of entertainments which will make one of the features of the season's pleasures for Andover people. Planned by a committee from the November Club, abundant assurance is given that everything will be provided necessary for thorough enjoyment. The course as outlined provides for the following program:

December 3, Concert by the Hess-Schroeder Quartette.

January 18, Illustrated travellog, Dr. Bowker, whose subject will be Portugal.

February 8, Tableaux under the direction of H. Winthrop Pierce.

The course will be given in the Town hall, and for the three entertainments the tickets will sell at $2.00, with single tickets at $1.00.

The Hess-Schroeder Quartette will provide one of the most enjoyable evenings of instrumental music that has been given in Andover for many years. The artists are the famous quartette associated with the Symphony Orchestra, and in the program are promised solos by the famous cellist, Schroeder, and Willy Hess, violinist.

The Travellog by Dr. Bowker needs no comment to assure Andover patrons of an enjoyable evening. A welcome lecturer always, the subject for this course promises new material and delightful views that will be one more glimpse of the versatility and charm of this famous lecturer.

The final entertainment, February 8, will be under the direction of Mr. Pierce, the Andover artist who has already fixed his place in Andover art and entertainment. While it is not known just exactly what the program is for that evening, there will be enough of the local flavor to it to assure a widespread interest among the people of the town.

It is hoped that the entertainments may bring forth a substantial profit which will be devoted to Andover charities to be selected by the committee at the close of the series.

The Committee in charge is made up of Mrs. Percival Dove, Mrs. Frederic Palmer, and Miss Ellen C. Snow, and tickets are already in the hands of the Committee, and others who are interested, and at the Bookstore for an advance sale of seats. That they will receive a generous patronage should be assured from the excellence of the program provided.

Worthy of Investigation

In another column the Townsman carries the advertisement of the Redeemable Investment Company, a corporation having its principal offices in Boston, and offering a most attractive investment proposition. The agent for this vicinity is Mr. William G. Poor, an Andover boy originally, with many close acquaintances in this vicinity. The proposition will bear the closest investigation, and in these days of most careful security of the investment of money, there would seem to be an excellent field for the kind of business proposed by this concern. We do not need to speak of Mr. Poor's high standing, or of the confidence that may properly be placed in his part in placing these securities.

VERY CLOSE ELECTION

Local Contest for Representative
Brought out Record Vote
in AndoverA new high mark for a total vote
in Andover has been recorded and this on an "off year."1206 votes was the register record
when the polls closed on Tuesday afternoon, a vote due almost entirely
to the hustle of the two representative candidates and their friends.The polls opened at six o'clock in the morning and before 8 a. m., nearly three hundred ballots had been cast. The voting was steady
through the day, and the conduct of the election under the direction of Warden Allen and his associates was smooth and efficient.Candidates Boutwell and Burns
were both in evidence during the entire day, and many teams and autos
were used to bring out the voters.The counting was done promptly
and the result was announced soon after five o'clock. Outside of the representative contest the local interest seemed to shape toward independent action similar to that shown all over the state. Mr. Bout-well's majority of 47 is the smallest
majority on record, but it is considered pretty satisfactory when all things are considered.

New Agent at Wood's Mill.

President Wood has again promoted some of the officers under his employ in the Wood Worsted mill.
At a meeting of the overseers of the mill which was held Monday morning, Walter M. Lamont was appointed agent of the mill. Mr. Lamont,
for the past two years, has been
assistant agent, filling the position
very satisfactorily. This promotion is therefore deserved and will be popular with the heads of the various departments.

The second appointment which is of interest is that of Andrew B. Walls of Providence, R. I., as assistant agent. Mr. Walls is a young man who has been connected with the American Woolen Co. for eight years,
has had much practical experience
and seems well fitted for his new position. For the past five years he has been assistant agent in the Riverside mills in Providence.

and is assisted by Mrs. John J.

Obituary

SAMUEL MORSE DOWNS

Born May 31st, 1836
Died Oct. 30th, 1909

Music was the soul of this Christian gentleman, whose funeral took place at his house Tuesday morning,
attended by a throng of friends,
neighbors, and admirers. To the end
he thought melodiously. Those slender fingers had picked out harmonies
before he was eight. That creative imagination made his couch of sickness a concert-chamber at three score
years and ten.

His talent was a heritage from his Haverhill mother. She was a sweet singer.

In early manhood, his beautiful
baritone would fill the street with listeners. Before he was of age, he was organist in a Boston church. At Park street and later at the Old South, he touched the keys of Milton's instrument with something of Milton's breadth and majesty. His power of transposition was unusual. To coin literature into melody was his pastime. Given the verse, the music leaped into life. He always sought
the best in form and feeling. A gifted conductor, he was also a sympathetic accompanist. In pioneer days Lowell Mason and Camilla Ur-so spoke of his technique. At the dedication of the John-Esther, the foremost American educator thought his Whittier chorus inspiring. His ear caught the bird-songs of his island summer home. Artists knew not whether to praise the more—the daintiness of his fancy or the finish
of his craftsmanship or the range
of his compositions.

For well nigh half a century Professor Downs was the master musician of two great schools. Under routine glowed genius. Here he spoke through his art. There he revealed his purity of heart and delicacy of feeling. Abbot Academy and Bradford Academy rejoiced in his brightness of mind and activity of spirit. His pupils thrilled to his impassioned love of the beautiful in all forms. His alert step, his courteous bearing, his perfect simplicity,
his high sense of honor, his scorn
of superficiality, his enthusiasm for truth, his boundless generosity
proved him an ideal interpreter of the world of tones. He made girlhood
his comrade and co-worker in the realm of sounds. He electrified two communities by recitals, where angel voices rang like silver bells. The Church heard her great antiphonals afresh and afar. He laid his being on the altar of his calling.

When, then, to the liturgy and hymn of Rector Palmer and the prayer of Prof. Hincks at the funeral was added the piano of Ernst Perabo, Prof. Downs' bosom friend, the atmosphere of his life was continued
in death. As he had ministered to others, so now he was ministered
unto. Rubenstein, Schubert and Beethoven spoke their message of peace
and comfort, of joy and hope. In it rippled the spirit of eternal friendship and love. The exquisite interpretation, the ineffable sweetness
was that of "harpers playing on their harp."

With the ceasing of the wonderful harmonies, a unique seal was set on a unique personality, no more to go in and out before us. The strains of triumph played around that face
of Parian marble, engarlanded with flowers. They softened the grief of girls of Bradford and Abbot headed by Miss Knott and Miss Kelsey and many a sympathizing teacher. Miss Church from her Boston school, with Principal Stearns of Phillips, and Prof. Ryder of Andover Seminary
swelled the educational note as Speaker Cole and Commodore Wad-
hams, among a hundred others,
swelled the civic note of praise. The honorary bearers to pay the last tribute to a precious memory were Mr.
Schirmer and Dr. Garland of Boston.
Mr. Hopkinson and Mr. Schmitt of Bradford, Mr. Alden and Prof. Taylor of Andover, Prof. Ashton and
Mr. Perabo of Brookline. Treasurer
Flagg was Director.

On the arrival of the funeral cortege at the city Mr. Arthur Johnson, the President of the Boston Y.
M. C. A., and the oldest trustee of Abbot in official service, met the family. Thence they journeyed to Concord, where on Mr. Draper's 83rd birthday eight years ago, the beloved Mrs. Downs had been laid beside her adored father. Brother,
sister, niece, companions, pupils,
twelve in all, and the oldest living
trustee of Bradford, sorrowing yet rejoicing, saw then the casket of the beloved Pianist, Composer, Master, Friend, Husband, lowered beside his wife beneath the chanting pines of Sleepy Hollow.

Knights of Pythias.

A regular convention of Garfield lodge, Knights of Pythias, was held last week, with two-thirds of its members present, and Vice-Chancellor David C. Young presiding.

Several distinguished visitors were present; among them were Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Howe, Grand Marker of Exchequer Beeman of the Grand Lodge of the Domain of Massachusetts, Past Chancellor Jensen and Vice-Chancellor Freeman of William R. Gale lodge of Lawrence. These all addressed the lodge. Brother Beeman spoke concerning the necessity of having a definite aim and of ever working towards that aim in order to gain sure and lasting results. Brother Howe spoke of the order in general; that there are now over 700,000 Knights of Pythias in the United States; that of these 25,000 belong to the domain of Massachusetts; that the growth of the order is such that the enrollment in the state will be increased to 26,000 by the middle of next December. Then he spoke of the work of the order and of the good it is accomplishing; and of the condition of our local lodge, representing it as being "very much alive."

From his remarks we learned that progress is the word of the hour and that the order is entering upon a wave of prosperity such as it has never before known.

Here I should like to add a few words in regard to this great and powerful order. It is founded on the baserock of friendship, charity and benevolence. It cares for its members in sickness and health, relieves its distresses, buries its dead, protects and cares for the widow and educates the orphan. It teaches men charity and benevolence. Its members believe unflinchingly in a Supreme Being, and that faith in God and deeds of charity are the golden keys which open the palace of eternity.

I intend to write again in regard to this order so that the men and women of this community may become better acquainted with its work, and that they may realize as I do that the order has but one purpose—the elevation, the happiness, the betterment of mankind.

Punchard Notes

Punchard's team goes to Exeter a week from tomorrow to play Exeter High School. The majority of the men are in good condition and will be up to play in the game.

Miss Gertrude Louprét, who entered the Senior class a short time ago, has returned to Lowell.

Miss Maud Rodowsky, who entered Punchard this fall from a Newton school, has been transferred to the 9th grade at the West Center school.

Punchard school defeated Pinkerton Academy on the Playstead Saturday afternoon by a score of 29 to 5. One of the touchdowns was made by Dole after a 65 yard run, receiving the ball on a forward pass. The summary:

A Progressive Institution.

The Massachusetts Agricultural College has recently issued an illustrated booklet which contains a large amount of interesting information about the institution—its objects, entrance requirements, courses of study, equipment, student life, opportunities for its graduates, etc. It is illustrated with about twenty-five views which indicate that at Amherst, a spot of unusual natural beauty, there is located one of the most progressive and adequately equipped educational institutions of New England. It is also evident that the college is thoroughly preparing young men for positions of trust and influence in the various agricultural vocations. One of the noticeable features about the institution is that this fall its entering class numbers 130, and that its total enrollment of four year students is 315; both these figures represent an increase in attendance of over 100 per cent in the last six years. A copy of this publication may be secured by writing to the President's office, and asking for the M. A. C. Booklet.

ANDOVER, MASS.

SOME ANDOVER INTERESTS

AS SEEN BY "THE SPECTATOR."

The following simple test for ascertaining whether water is suitable for drinking or not was given The Spectator by a prominent Andover medical gentleman: Fill a pint bottle three-quarters full of the water. Dissolve in it one half-teaspoonful of the best white sugar. Set it away in a warm place for forty-eight hours. If the water becomes cloudy it is unfit to drink.

A member of the faculty of Phillips Academy tells The Spectator that there is no authority for the expression "widow lady." This may be interesting information for several cultured Andoverites of The Spectator's acquaintance who use the expression.

Last summer a certain Andover gentleman suffered a great deal from depredations upon his fruit trees, and last season, when his cherry trees hung full of ripe fruit, he surrounded them with a network of twine, the end of which was attached to a bell in his chamber. That very night, after he had been abed about an hour he was suddenly awakened by a "ting-a-ling-ling." Getting up and hastily dressing, he glided downstairs and into the yard. He saw a human figure in the best cherry tree, the hand of said figure being actively engaged in transferring the luscious fruit into said figure's mouth. The gentleman stole up stealthily and in another moment he had caught a well-known Andover Churchman! The well-known churchman muttered something about boys—thought he saw two or three of them in the yard as he passed by—came in to look after them; but he showed such an insatiable desire to get away from the place, that the owner of the cherry trees hadn't the heart to detain him by any obtrusive though well-meant courtesies.

An Elm street mother, having occasion to reprove her little daughter for playing with some rude children, received for a reply, "Well, ma, some folks don't like bad company, but I always did."

According to an Andover fruit dealer the consumption of bananas is growing rapidly. A physician recently informed The Spectator that it is very nutritious food and were the price lower it could be utilized by the poor during the summer months as a principal article of diet. This physician says it has great value as an anti-scorbutic, and that there is no doubt that if substituted for meat and other heating food, during the warmer months, it would be to the manifest advantage of the consumer.

Strangers in Andover can always see things which the inhabitants of the town never notice. The Spectator often wonders how a married couple can endure each other; but in this instance The Spectator is the stranger in Andover and the married couple are the inhabitants; which is why The Spectator remarks that the person whose vision is the most acute is not necessarily happier than the blind man.

The other day a gentleman told The Spectator a story, and the latter could not help reflecting whether the teller told it for his own amusement or for The Spectator's.

An Andover clergyman, in giving the people of his congregation his ideas on hell, on a recent Sunday, stated his belief in the existence of what used to be called the orthodox hell, and in the biblical statement that fire and brimstone were in it. As proof that there is such a place, this Andover clergyman cited the offer of a farmer to give a yoke of oxen to be made sure that there is no such place, and then narrated this thrilling tale: A worldly woman had a beautiful daughter who, lying at the point of death, said she dreaded to die through fear of hell. Her mother told her the whole story of that awful place was a bug-a-boo intended to scare people. In a few hours, just as death came, the beautiful girl raised up in bed, her eyes glaring wildly, and pointing before her cried, "Oh, mother, there is a hell, for I see it!" She fell back dead, and her mother's hair turned white in two days.

The other day The Spectator was very much amused to see a modest but hungry old hen making a hearty breakfast off an old shoe lace and when she found the unfortunate shoe still at the end of it she looked greatly troubled.

"Yes," said a Main street gentleman to The Spectator, "rugs are a great improvement upon carpets, especially from a sanitary point of view, but when a man has tripped over half a dozen in crossing the floor, and finally goes sprawling over the encumbrance nearest the door, he begins to sigh for the whole carpet, even though it should bring with it the insidious tack."

Said a prominent citizen to The Spectator a day or two ago: "How an Andoverite away from home can get on without The Townsman passeth my understanding. But then, the number who attempt to get on without it is rapidly growing less. When I advocate the spread of The Townsman I feel as good as a home missionary." Thanks, brother, thanks!

It isn't often that a certain town official manufactures a conundrum, but when he does turn out anything at that line, it is a stunner. For instance, he propounded the following at a social gathering here in Andover one evening recently: "Why is the Fourth of July like a goat?" As may naturally be supposed, everybody had to give it up, and even after the town official had explained that it was because it had horns, there were three elderly ladies and a fat Andoverite who could not make it out. The three elderly ladies remained obdurate to the last, but after a thorough explanation by means of diagrams and questions, the fat gentleman began to laugh immoderately and declared it was a good thing, a mighty good thing, you know—how was it, now? And then they had to explain it all over again.

An Andover dealer informs The Spectator that eggs will be extremely high this winter owing to the price of feed and the rate at which meat and other articles are selling.

"It is common to sneer at Sunday Schools and their work," said a Main street gentleman to The Spectator recently, "but if all boys remained in them after they had ceased to be boys in years, there would be fewer broken-hearted mothers in every community in the land. There would be very little for the police to do, likewise."

The Spectator hopes some day to see established in connection with the Andover public library a "museum of sociology." Such an edpartment or museum would not be very difficult of establishment. There should be on the shelves a large number of up-to-date sociological works and a collection of materials which may be described in a word as aiming to show by all practical means, such as models, charts, and photographs, what is actually going on today in the way of social betterment of the masses.

THE SPECTATOR

Lawrence City Mission.

Rev. Clark Carter was re-elected City Missionary of Lawrence at the annual meeting and election of the officers of the Lawrence City Mission held at the office, 206 Essex St., last week. All the former officers were re-elected. They are: President, Walter E. Parker; vice-president, James I. Milliken; treasurer, Charles H. Littlefield; auditor, Henry L. Sherman; secretary and City missionary, Rev. Clark Carter.

Rev. Clark Carter read the 50th annual report of the secretary, missionary and treasurer, which showed a balance in the bank after paying the salary and relief funds. The report in part was as follows:

"That the Lawrence City Mission has been alive and useful during the past year is shown partly by the statistical tables which accompany this report. At the office 4416 calls have been received. From the office 1809 calls have been made, either by the secretary or his assistant. The money value of relief given, $4,305.40, has been exceeded only once in the history of the mission, and that was in the year just preceding, a year marked by widespread depression of business. That the effects of industrial disaster had not disappeared before the year's work was well advanced is evident from the necessity of investigating 237 new cases of reported need. Of these 32 seemed to need work rather than relief, 19 were decided to require only visitation and advice, five discipline, and 132 aid, in some way either for a brief time or permanently. Among the chief causes of need there was a marked contrast with the previous year. Then fully two-thirds of the new cases were destitute because of no work or insufficient employment. But the past year shows only one-sixth of the new cases to have been in need because of lack of employment. The largest class numbered 54, where sickness or old age caused the need; and the next largest numbered 46, where 26 widows and 20 deserted wives were left with no male support.

The Lawrence City Mission, in the mature strength of its 50 years, assumes the task of making this burden lighter. Grateful for the generous co-operation received from every side hitherto in our efforts to relieve distress, we ask for a closer union with all remedial and educational agencies, churches, schools societies, departments of government, for the purpose of preventing poverty and destroying pauperism."

The Mother's Oats
Free Fireless Cooker is doing her work. And much better than she could do it.

Suppose she falls asleep. When her husband comes home and wakens her, all she will have to do is to go to the Fireless Cooker and take out the perfectly cooked and steaming hot dinner that will be all ready. Nothing that's put in the Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker can burn or boil over. It cooks everything and several things at once.

It's especially planned to prepare that ideal food—

which are not like "others" oats. They're not only rolled (to make easy cooking) but are crushed (to make easy digestion). Easy work for the cook and easy work for the stomach.

If you are a user of MOTHER'S CEREALS: Mother's Oats, Mother's Corn Meal (white or yellow), Mother's Wheat Hearts (the cream of the wheat), Mother's Hominy Grits, Mother's Corn Flakes (toasted), Mother's Coarse Pearl Hominy, Mother's Old Fashioned Steel Cut Oatmeal, Mother's Old Fashioned Graham Flour, you can get a Mother's Oats Fireless Cooker free with coupons. C. Earle of the Ruggles street church, Boston, formerly of this city.

The first of a series of six vesper
services to be held upon the last Sunday of each month during the winter,
was held with great success at the Church of the Good Shepherd (Universalist), Sunday afternoon at four o'clock. Some excellent music was furnished by the celebrated Weber quartet of Boston.

An audience of several hundred people attended the lecture on Christian Science, delivered at the Opera house Sunday afternoon. The lecturer was Clarence C. Eaton, C. S. B., of Tacoma, Wash., a member of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ (Scientist) in Boston.

The close of the golfing season at the Merrimack Valley Country club
was signalized Wednesday evening
at the club house on the Haver-
hill road by the annual golfers' dinner at which about 50 of the enthusiasts
of the game and a few invited guests were present. The occasion was also marked by the presentation of the trophies for the season which had been won in the various contests.

ESSEX COUNTY

Mrs. Nancy Johnson, one of the oldest residents of South Byfield, is dead at the age of 95 years.

A thief entered the chapel of the St. Mary parochial school in Lynn and robbed two poor-boxes of their contents.

Prompt action at the Children's home at Haverhill probably saved an epidemic of scarlet fever. Six patients are now doing nicely at the Isolation hospital.

Newburyport reports an epidemic
of what is known as "dry town" intoxications, as one day several men
were found laid out from the effects
of this brand of liquor.

Eben W. Sears, Lynn's policeman
mayor candidate, was ejected from
the lawyer's room at the new court house in that city Monday. He had been sitting in the room and smoking.

While riding in an electric car near Floating bridge, Miss L. G. Tarbox
of Lynn was hit in the neck with a stone, which crashed through one of the car windows. The young hoodlums escaped.

Mayor Rich of Lynn declares that he will not accept the offer of $3000 from the county commissioners for the annual rental of the new court house, and will demand at least $4000.
The building and lot cost $50,000.

George McGarvey of Lynn recently found in a glove that he purchased a diamond ring which a customer had slipped off his finger while buying gloves at the store. The ring
was worth $100 and McGarvey returned it.

The dory of Charles Currier, a Newburyport fisherman, was stolen
last Wednesday night, and a compass taken the same night from the shanty of Joseph T. Lalumiere, a fisherman and clam dealer. It is suspected that both were taken by the same party.

A herd of 20 Holstein cows was poisoned Sunday in the Haverhill
city stables, six of them dying almost in their tracks, after drinking
their water after feeding. Veterinarians saved the lives of four other cows. The matter is to be investigated.

In examining the foundation of the rock bed under the chain bridge at Newburyport, it has been found that there are big fissures in the foundation rocks, which will have to be grouted up. A concrete foundation for the piers will also have to be built.

Monro, rector of St. Paul's church,
who has charge of the Junior department of the North Andover Club,
gave a very interesting talk before
the boys on "The Spanish-American War."

The annual reception tendered by
the seniors of the Johnson High School in honor of the freshmen, occurred Friday evening, in Stevens
hall, and proved a thoroughly enjoyable affair, in every particular. The event was in the form of a Halloween party.

Sunday evening the fire department
was summoned by an alarm from Box 56, Stevens Corner, to extinguish a chimney fire at a dwelling house, No. 17, White Row, Stevens Village. The flames were put out with the chemicals. No damage was done.

State Forester F. W. Rane has his assistants at work on a special study
and investigation of every hill of prominence in Essex county, and
upon the result of their examination
he will base a special report to the next Legislature, recommending the establishment of special observato-
ries for the discovery of forest fires.

Selectman Peter Holt, Harry W.
Clark, Charles H. Farnham, Isaac
Osgood and Mrs. John O. Loring,
a committee selected by the parish
committee of the Old North church
to devise ways and means for making improvements in the vestry,
have been at work for some time.

BOSTON THEATRES

"Three Twins" at the Boston Theatre
Still Continues on Its Triumphant Way.

At the Boston Theatre "Three Twins" proves itself the most diverting entertainment of the musical comedy type that has been before
the public in recent years and now
in the fifth week of a highly successful engagement continues to draw great big audiences for every performance. If you want to laugh, and to laugh heartily; if you desire to refresh yourself with tinkling melodies, that will for weeks linger pleasantly in your mind; and if you care
for beautiful stage pictures, that are marvels of stagecraft, even in this day of tremendous effort, go to the Boston Theatre by all means, for
there you will find all of this and more. The company presented by Manager Gaites contains the best of light musical artists. With the inimitable Crawford and the always happy Bessie McCoy to lead the spirited carnival of fun there is never a dull moment. Joseph Allen, Daisy Leon, Ada Gordon, Della Niv-
ens, W. H. Vedder, Y. D. Benner
and Ralph Locke all add song and fun to the entertainment and have
by their clever characterizations
scored pronounced individual hits.
Manager Levering announces that owing to a very big demand for seats
for "Three Twins" a new box office
rule has been made for the benefit of out-of-town patrons. In the past four weeks there have been a great many requests received on the day of a performance from theatre-goers residing outside of the city for seats
to be held for that evening and owing to the fact that the house is practically sold out for every performance, it has been difficult to fill the orders. Therefore, Manager Levering
has arranged that for each performance a block of seats is to be laid aside for the purpose of filling
orders from out-of-town patrons,
and now anyone living within a radius of forty miles of Boston can have reservations made at the Boston
Theatre with the feeling of perfect security that the seats desired will be held until two o'clock in the afternoon or until eight o'clock in the evening, as the request may be made.
Matinees are given on Wednesdays
and Saturdays.

LAWRENCE OPERA HOUSE.

The great American play, "Arizona," by Augustus Thomas, which has had such a phenomenal success in New York and Chicago, is, as the title would indicate, a stage picture
of the scenes, peoples and costumes
of that frontier territory of the great southwest. The people of "Arizona"
are cowboys and cavalymen, ranchers and Mexicans, and the various types of womanhood to be found
about a frontier army post and life,
and is rich in color of the half-Spanish, half-civilized territory from which the piece takes its name. "Arizona" will be seen in this city on Monday next. William Collier in his latest farce, "The Patriot," written by himself and J. Hartley Manners,
will be at the Opera house next week.
"The Patriot" is a sheer farce, as emphatically as Mr. Collier is a never failing, unctious, resourceful farce
actor with a peculiar style of his own.
An opportunity is to be offered at the Opera house next week to see again the comedian, Frank Lator, a big hit several seasons ago in "Coming Thru' the Rye."

COLONIAL.

The show at the Colonial this week
has been a very pleasing one.
Among the attractions were Hoey
and Lee, those princes of Hebrew impersonators, the clever act of the Spissel brothers and company in one of the most eccentric and novel pan-
tomimic comedies ever seen here,
Lyons, Fisher and Lyons in a singing and dancing act; a playlet entitled "The New Alderman," the musical comedy of the Ramsey sisters,
and the novel act of Keef and Pearl.
These features made up a very attractive program which everyone enjoyed.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions will be held in the Park Street church, Boston, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The business of the West Center Club next week will be an election to membership, and consideration of the change of time of meeting from Saturday afternoon to Friday evenings. This is an important question and should command a full attendance. A reading circle of eight members has been formed and the books are now in circulation.

ANDOVER NEWS

A Daughter of the Pioneers.

Seventy years of service, from 1838 to 1909, and only a few inches of this column for a review of this "typical New England life" so affectionately recalled by her pastor at the burial service of Frances Ellen Chandler, our dear old comrade, schoolmate, neighbor, and life-long friend. She did not inherit the joyous outlook on the things of the inner world that helps so many of us to so lightly and almost carelessly revel in the music and color of the wayside. She had doubts to quell about her standing in the celestial archives. But I know she will be amazed and uplifted when the angels open her record book of life and the light of the eternal sunshine falls on the headlines, "Faithful to home duty," "Loyal to friends," "Loving watch over the world's mission fields," "A humble walk before God," "An earnest teaching of youth," "A pilgrim always shod for the crusade of good against evil." Her earnest, deep voice was fitted to the wise councillor and her rare justice and sympathy made it easy to seek and take advice. The empty place in her church, her home and neighborhood will not close up quickly after such a round of service. All over New England, and to the distant Philippines, hearts she loved will miss her unfailing attention. Wherever the Townsman goes with the note of her passing, a thrill of regret will come, and a tear for two lonely sisters in the homestead at Andover. Deacon Ralph Holbrook Chandler reckoned all the pioneers we love to honor in the inheritance they passed along to Frances. Blood in common with a great circle of Andover kin, Holt, Abbott, Farnham, Blanchard, Barker, Frye, our first pastor, Rev. Francis Dane, Brad street of Ipswich, Brewer, Andrews, Howe, Butterfield, King and many another fought the good fight down the generations that we might gain the gracious bequest, this upright, tender, loyal heart now entered upon her glorious inheritance in the unseen.

Hallowe'en Frolics

Hallowe'en was fittingly observed in town both by the small boys, who with their lanterns and bean-blowers menaced the safety of all who dared go abroad and also by the numerous gatherings of young people.

Last Thursday night Christ church Parish House was the scene of a merry-making by the members of the Sunday school. The usual Hallowe'en games were played and everyone greatly enjoyed the evening.

On Friday night the student body and faculty of Pynchard joined in a masquerade party which was very successful. As usual there was a great variety of costumes, while the Present, Past and Future booths, the ghost stories, and the ghosts themselves which frequently appeared, were among the interesting features of the evening. Dancing was enjoyed and was followed by refreshments.

Another enjoyable party was that given by Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Currier at their camp at Hagggett's Pond. Those present were; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stanchfield, Mr. and Mrs. West, Mr. and Mrs. H. Horne, Mr and Mrs. Currier and a party from Boston.

A very pleasant masquerade party was held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bartlett on Abbott street, in honor of the birthday of their daughter, Elizabeth. About thirty children, dressed in costume, joined in the Hallowe'en games and the dancing. Among those present were; Marion Barnard, Foster Barnard, William Higgins, Jr., Merrill Boynton, Harold Gates, Elsie Whipple, Elsie Gleason, Ada Brewster, Ludwig Moorehead, Dorothy Dole, Wentworth Williams, Elizabeth Hinckes, Elizabeth and Winthrop Allen, Edith and Elsa Wade, Gwendoline and Phyllis Brooks, and Catherine and Alice Walton of Wakefield.

About twenty young people were present at a Hallowe'en party given by Miss Margaret Hutcheson at her home on Summer street, Monday evening.

Miss Lizzie Cole and Miss Marion Dearborn entertained a few of their friends at Miss Dearborn's house on Elm street, on Saturday evening, in honor of Hallowe'en.

On Saturday, Mrs. Maurice J. Curran and Mrs. John Joyce entertained the pupils of Mrs. Amy Briggs' school, Mrs. Briggs and Miss Lucy Allen at their home on North Main street. A camp dinner was served in the Curran and Joyce camp, after which music and games were enjoyed in the house by the children. In the evening several friends of Miss Margaret Curran joined in Hallowe'en festivities, among them being a huge bon-fire and a pumpkin pudding. The whole day was one of great enjoyment to all.

The Swastika Club held a Hallowe'en party Saturday in the bungalow in Elm street belonging to P. J. Hannon. About twenty-five young people were present.

Notice.

The annual meeting of the Andover Cricket and Football Club will be held in the Abbot Village Hall, Monday evening, November 8, at 8 o'clock. All Cricket and Football members are requested to be present, as officers for the coming year are to be elected.

The winter work is certainly started, for 38 Sewing School children, 25 Girls, 30 Mothers, 63 Senior boys, 25 Middle boys and 20 Junior boys have applied for classes during these first two weeks. Some who have not seen the recent Bulletin may be interested in an account of our first Tuesday, October 26th. That evening 25 mothers began dress-making under the supervision of Mrs. Dennis, assisted by Mrs. Dumont and Mrs. Billington, also Mrs. B. M. Allen, Mrs. N. E. Bartlet and Mrs. S. Stearns to "lend a hand." Forty-five senior boys enjoyed the reading room, game room and bowling alleys from 7.00 until 8.15 and then took gymnasium work and basketball for the remainder of the evening. Seventeen Middle boys had their gymnasium work first and these lines of recreation afterward until 9.00. Mr. D. May has charge of the bowling, Mr. Hall of the shower-baths and lockers, Mr. Wolger of the gymnasium and Miss Hardy of the music for the drill and the game room afterward.

Wednesday afternoon 29 little bankers deposited $14.00 in the Stamp Savings bank, and 12 Junior boys began the gymnasium under Mr. Bower. That evening the boys' work was along the same lines as Tuesday, but the night school calls about 20 of them to its splendid work so our numbers dropped to 27 Seniors and 13 Middlers.

Thursday evening some 20 girls met in the social meetings and made arrangements for the Hallowe'en party for the next night.

Thursday afternoon 15 mothers came to be helped on children's sewing by Mrs. Hotchkiss, Mrs. Billington and Miss S. Jenkins.

Friday afternoon six Junior boys began their rug work under Mrs. J. Anderson's and Miss Eaton's care, and the same evening 17 mothers enjoyed another session of dress-making while the girls' party took place in the gymnasium, and 16 Middlers began their basketry.

Saturday morning at ten o'clock the Sewing School opened and the 14 boys who take whittling begun their work. After this week the Middlers are to take Saturday afternoon tramps with Mr. Volger.

Saturday evening 31 Senior boys and 15 Middlers took the regular work, the excitement of the evening being the first game of the Inter-Association Bowling league, when the Lawrence Boys' club defeated us by 34 points. Monday evening the Girls' club began their sewing under Miss Bodwell, cooking under Miss Goldsmith and gymnasium and basketball under Miss Gegenheimer.

Beginning in December the regular rummage sales will occur the first Saturday of each month and articles for these sales will be gladly received during any morning hours.

Our various dress-making classes need an ironing board and we even aspire to an electric iron.

Magazines will be sent for and by the time they have been read here and afterward at the Lawrence prison, they have done good service.

Our boys bowled 176 strings the three evenings that the alleys were at their disposal. Private parties may have the alleys on Friday evenings as last year.

Bowling

Teams representing the Overseer's club and the Repair shop of the Smith & Dove mills, played a very interesting and enjoyable game of duck pins on the Hillside house alleys last Friday night. The Overseers proved themselves masters of the situation, taking the first two strings and the pin fall, to one string for the Repair boys.

The following is the summary:

OVERSEERS
	1	2	3	Tls.
Bradford	85	96	75	256
McCrorey	81	78	90	249

An interesting feature of the evening's sport was the rolling off of the challenge match between Kydd and Jarvis, the latter being allowed a handicap of ten pins. Kydd won all four points, having 18 pins to the good. The following are the scores:

	1	2	3	Tls.
Jarvis	84	82	92	258
Kydd	86	93	99	278

The second in the series of matches in duck pins between the Overseer's club and the Repair shop of the Smith & Dove mills, was rolled off on the Hillside House alleys Wednesday evening. The Overseers won all four points taking the pinfall by 106 pins. Bradford and Kydd both played well, the former having a single string of 100 and a total of 274, while Kydd rolled up a single of 111 and had a total of 295, the highest total ever made on the alleys.

Welch played best for the Repair team, having a total of 244.

KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH HOME

THANKSGIVING time is particularly sacred to all New Englanders. Then it is that family ties are welded more strongly than ever before.

The old folks are thrilled once more with joy and happiness when their children come back to the old home for Thanksgiving dinner.

At this time there is nothing like the TELEPHONE for getting the family together and in aiding in making all the arrangements incident to the homecoming.

Then, too, if any member of the family is unable to be present at the reunion, he may send his personality and cheering voice over the telephone wires to the gathering from and to any point within the scope of the great Bell Telephone System of the United States.
